

YES User Guide

Remote Study Selection

This user guide outlines the process for selecting remote study for the Fall 2020 semester.

Remote Study is available through the YES suite of applications. On the student landing page, click Remote Study.

NOTE: If you choose to study remotely, you will not be able to change your selection after the deadline determined by your school. Once you have submitted your intention to study remotely, you will not be able to make any changes in the application. For more information on remote study selection, please visit the Return to Campus website.

1. If you choose to enroll in remote learning for the Fall 2020 semester, check mark the box next to I intend to study remotely for the Fall 2020 semester.

Remote Study Selection

Please indicate below if you will be studying remotely for the Fall 2020 semester. If you choose to study remotely, you will be required to remain off-campus for the remainder of the term. Please visit Vanderbilt's Return to Campus website for more information regarding the potential impact of studying remotely this semester.

Once you have submitted your intention to study remotely, you will not be able to make any changes in the application.

Students will be expected to participate in classes that are taught synchronously in Nashville's Central Time Zone.

Undergraduate Students: A waitlist for spring on-campus housing will be in place for undergraduate students who select remote study for fall 2020, but with no guarantee of availability. More information about this will be forthcoming. More information about remote study may be found in the Undergraduate Students Opting for Remote-Only section of this page: <https://www.vanderbilt.edu/coronavirus/fall-2020/fall-2020-undergraduate-students/>.
